Greetings and welcome to another edition of Onward!

The Children’s Foundation exists to improve the health and wellness of children and families, and there has never been a year that has verified our mission like this past one. But we rose to the occasion – staff has been adaptable, resilient, and responsive, and donors have helped us make a difference for communities in dire need. I am proud to announce that in 2020, The Children’s Foundation has awarded a record-setting amount in grants for the organization at more than $7 million!

Each quarter we have persisted onward, making strides in our important work and reaching new achievements. - this quarter is no different. In the pages ahead, you will read about new collaborations with Total Health Care Foundation and Detroit Excellence in Youth Arts (DEYA), two organizations that The Foundation will help achieve operational goals.

We also share with you a recap of Jamie Daniel’s Foundation’s Second Annual Celebrity Roast with guest of honor and NHL’s winningest coach, Scotty Bowman. The virtual event raised funds that will help end the stigma of substance use disorder.

Through the last few months, we have seen incredible giving from individual donors including some of our own trustees who have raised money with individual campaigns which will be matched by another generous trustee. We have also maintained relationships with Tim Horton’s and Spirit Halloween, each helping us to raise funds for important causes that address children’s needs.

If you are currently thinking about your year-end giving plans, I invite you to consider gifting to The Children’s Foundation – we are making a difference for so many children and families in Michigan. Please consider establishing a donor-advised fund, as well. They are a great way to plan your charitable giving. With the help of donors like you, we can further expand our reach and impact.

Thank you for your continued support.

Total Health Care Foundation looks to The Children’s Foundation to fulfill their goals and operate more efficiently.

The Children’s Foundation, Total Health Care and Priority Health recently announced a collaboration to improve the health and well-being of the Detroit community through the recently established Total Health Care Foundation. The Total Health Care Foundation seeks to support organizations and programs that show promise in improving the health and well-being for the Detroit community. The Children’s Foundation will provide expertise in grant evaluation, processing, and awarding on behalf of the Total Health Care Foundation in their goal to improve health outcomes of high-need areas and target disparities.

As of December, The Children’s Foundation has reviewed nearly 30 grant applications and is looking forward to leading the effort to support Total Health Care Foundation in its endeavors.

Foundation President & CEO, Lawrence J. Burns, appointed to Children’s Hospital of Michigan Board of Trustees.

Children’s Hospital of Michigan recently announced the appointment of Lawrence J. Burns, President and CEO of The Children’s Foundation to the Children’s Hospital of Michigan Board of Trustees. This appointment further exemplifies The Children’s Foundation’s partnership and commitment to Children’s Hospital of Michigan.
The Jamie Daniels Foundation is pleased to announce that its Second Annual Celebrity Roast of the NHL’s winningest coach, Scotty Bowman, raised more than $255,000 in support from sponsors and donors! This included an online silent auction featuring a variety of collectors’ items and one-of-a-kind experiences that raised more than $40,000. Proceeds will support the Foundation’s efforts to end the stigma associated with Substance Use Disorder and provide the guidance and resources needed so that lives can be saved.

The Roast, presented by Delta Dental, was televised and live streamed on October 14 via FOX Sports Detroit and later aired on the NHL Network.

Appearances from Wayne Gretzky, Jack Nicklaus, J.K. Simmons, Jim Leyland, Dick Vitale, and several of the Red Wings players who won Stanley Cups while being coached by Bowman created a night of laughter and entertainment.

“We’re thrilled with the outcome of our event. The Jamie Daniels Foundation was established to help raise awareness and funds for those battling Substance Use Disorder, while dispelling the stigma that surrounds the issue,” shared Lisa Daniels-Goldman, JDF co-founder. “Having to pivot to a virtual event this year, we exceeded our expectations and couldn’t have done that without the continued support of our very generous sponsors and donors,” added Ken Daniels.

Jamie Daniels Foundation recently added Jamie’s sister, Arlyn Daniels, to its Board of Trustees. She has been involved in the foundation since its inception serving as an intern as well as other capacities. Her voice on critical conversations and decision-making will add great value moving forward.
New partnership with Sperling Art Strategies establishes Detroit Excellence in Youth Arts for underserved children.

The Children’s Foundation, in partnership with Sperling Arts Strategies, has created the Detroit Excellence in Youth Arts (DEYA) initiative to bring multi-disciplinary arts experiences to underserved children and youth in the Detroit area.

Research shows the tremendous benefits that creativity and the arts can have on young developing minds and bodies. Artistic expression is looked to more and more to promote healing and recovery in hospital and mental health settings, as well as for arts benefiting language development and communication skills for youth. Creative youth development helps to develop innovation skills, self-expression, confidence, and a strong sense of resiliency in youth from under-resourced communities.

The Foundation looks forward to providing fundraising and grant support to DEYA and its endeavors.

First Tee – Greater Detroit hires Executive Director.

Effective October 5, Mary Ann Lievois was appointed Executive Director of First Tee – Greater Detroit. Lievois joins First Tee following a successful 35-year career in business development. She most recently served as Chief Executive Officer for 20 years at Interior Systems Contract Group.

“Helping young girls and boys find their voice and improve self-confidence while playing golf makes sense to me because I was a shy kid. I look forward to guiding our kids to set personal goals for advancing through the five levels of programming, while making new friends and embracing positive values and behaviors inherent to success in all aspects of their lives.”

This effort is the result of a Board of Trustees task force which has been formally adopted by the Board with a unanimous vote of support. Expand The Foundation’s Visibility in the Legislature, Thus Establishing The Foundation as the State Leader in Advocacy for Children’s Health & Wellness

2020 has been a profound year. Amid uncertainty and unknowns, The Children’s Foundation remained steadfast in its mission to improve the health and wellness of children and families during a particular time of incredible need. In fact, this year The Children’s Foundation granted more funds than any other year in its history, awarding more than $7 million!

More than $475,000 of this amount was granted from the COVID-19 Emergency Relief Fund which has provided dollars to organizations fulfilling urgent needs including stocking of food pantries, diapers and formula, technology to transition mental health in-person visits to telehealth and more.

The pandemic has changed life in a multitude of ways. It has presented an incredible need and unforeseen obstacles. It has forced individuals to be adaptable, innovative, and resilient. The Foundation is proud of its partners who have found success and continued to provide important work through immense challenges.

In August, Camp Catch-A-Rainbow (CCAR) modified its approach to bring virtual camp to 99 children with a pediatric cancer diagnosis. Their mission remained the same: to help kids forget about the stresses associated with illness. Each camper received a kit filled with items to participate in the virtual week with theme days and activities to complement it. Using pre-recorded videos and a schedule of live ZOOM sessions, CCAR accounted for plenty of thoughtful detail including a closing night “campfire” where the group sang the camp song, “Every Long Journey,” to close events.

Michigan Radio collaborated with a local high school to create a podcast hosted by teens about teens called Kids These Days. The project began in the classroom last Spring but successfully transitioned into a virtual format amid the pandemic. Students developed and reported a podcast learning key principles of journalism, while simultaneously giving a voice to their generation about relevant and important topics. The series of nine episodes provided an open and honest dialogue to help teens feel less alone and parents better understand what their kids may be experiencing.

For children with special needs, interruption of routine and isolation because of the pandemic presents exorbitant challenges to their coping abilities and progress. With help from The Children’s Foundation’s COVID-19 Emergency Relief Fund, Futures Foundation created and distributed at home engagement kits for developmentally disabled children ages two to 18. Kits were customized according to the child’s cognitive level and included appropriate activities and sensory items, as well as provide resources for parents to engage with their child.

“Camp Catch-A-Rainbow is a summer highlight for these kids and we are always trying to include more in this special experience. Though this year was different, we learned ways to engage campers long after the final campfire. We plan to incorporate virtual programming elements throughout the year, even after in-person camp returns.”

Feinberg Health Care Solutions creates opportunities for more individuals and families to heal and lead fulfilling lives.

At Feinberg Health Care Solutions, the goal is to help individuals and families struggling with substance use and/or mental health concerns to recover, heal, and flourish. They are health navigators – working with families during what for most is filled with fear and confusion. They help provide support from crisis to treatment and ultimately developing and implementing a long-term recovery plan.

However, because their services are not currently reimbursed by health insurance and are paid for privately by clients, Feinberg Health Care Solutions knows that access to care is a challenge for many.

That is why they established The Feinberg Hope Foundation, a donor-advised fund with The Children’s Foundation. Dollars raised will be invested in this fund and granted into scholarships for adolescents and young adults in need of care, who would not otherwise have access to the services needed to get appropriate treatment due to financial barriers.

The foundation plans to establish a set of criteria to help decide how that money is awarded.

“It is heartbreaking for us when we are unable to help a family based on inability to pay,” said Steve Feldman, Chief Operating Officer at Feinberg Health Care Solutions. “We created a foundation to allow for treatment and recovery services for those who could otherwise not afford it. Everyone deserves a meaningful chance at a fulfilling life.”

The Feinberg Hope Foundation will launch in 2021 and provide intervention, coaching, case management, and treatment to a broader group of families and individuals in need of support.

Charitable Contributions Under the CARES Act

The Children’s Foundation wants to let you know about a few key provisions in the newly passed CARES Act. This new law is designed to help both you and non-profits, like The Children’s Foundation, facing economic hardship during the Coronavirus pandemic.

Individual taxpayers contributing to a qualified charity can take an “above the line” deduction of up to $300, even if you do not itemize. You will want to take advantage of this as it is only available for the 2020 tax year.

For those individual taxpayers who do itemize their deductions, the new law allows for cash contributions to qualified charities to be deducted up to 100% of your adjusted gross income for the 2020 calendar year. This includes cash, checks, and credit card payments directly made to The Children’s Foundation. Currently, contributions to Donor Advised Funds do not qualify under this law.

For corporations, the percentage limitation on the corporate income tax charitable deduction increased from 10 to 25 percent of the corporation’s taxable income for 2020.

The CARES Act temporarily suspends the required minimum distribution (RMD) for the 2020 tax year. Some donors may take comfort in this and The Children’s Foundation understands that during these challenging times. However, if you are 70 1/2 years old and wish to gift your RMD to The Children’s Foundation, you still can! We are grateful to our seniors who support the health and wellness of children and families with this annual gift.

If you have any questions or would like to speak with someone about making a charitable gift, please contact George Westerman, Associate Director, Donor Relations & Gift Planning at 313-745-9344.
